The invention relates to a device and to a process for the automatic measurement and/or dispensing of a liquid sample onto a sample carrier and/or for the subsequent transport of such a sample carrier to another machine. In particular, the invention relates to a device and to a process for the automatic measurement and/or dispensing of a liquid sample onto a sample carrier and/or for the subsequent transport of such a sample carrier to another machine, wherein the liquid sample is dosed via a liquid dosing device onto the sample carrier and is transported to the measuring station by means of a sample transport system. The invention also relates to a device for the automatic measurement and/or dispensing of a liquid sample onto a sample carrier and/or for the subsequent transport of such a sample carrier to another machine, which comprises a liquid dosing device and a sample transport system. Devices and processes of the initially mentioned type are known for example from U.S. Pat. No. 5,595,069 and U.S. Pat. No. 5,788,079. For example, the first named patent describes a device for the automatic measurement and/or dispensing of a liquid sample onto a sample carrier, which is placed onto a sample carrier transport system, and the liquid sample is dosed onto the sample carrier by means of a liquid dosing device. The liquid sample is then transported to a measuring station by means of the sample carrier transport system. The second named patent describes a device for the automatic measurement and/or dispensing
