I'm trying to add several elements to an array in succession, where the number of elements can change. The following example illustrates the situation: let anArray: [Double] = [0.5, 0.3, 0.1] func createSomeAsynchronousElements() { for _ in 1...3 { let element = Double(arc4random_uniform(5)) print(element) anArray.append(element) } //... and some time later, perhaps after the for loop finishes let cancelToken = CancelToken() DispatchQueue.global().async { for element in anArray { print("asynchronous\(element)") } cancelToken.cancel() } } When I run this, I get the following print output: 0.48750000000000003 0.92478000000000004 0.0673e33713323
