Q: A way to get an array of all the values contained in a dataset What is the most efficient way to get a list of all the values contained in a dataset, across all the records? It could be a list of all the values of one column, or all the values in several columns, or a list of all the values of a certain index of all the columns? A: If you don't have an index and all the values are in a single column, you can find them with this: Dim AllValues As Variant AllValues = Range("A1:A100").Values If you don't have an index, you can use formulas to find the max, min, sum etc. Public Function Max(ByRef source As Range) As Double Application.Volatile source.FormulaArray = "=MAX(" & source.address(, xlR1C1) & ")" Max = source.Value End Function Public Function Min(ByRef source As Range) As Double Application.Volatile source.FormulaArray = "=MIN(" & source.address(, xlR1C1) & ")" Min = source.Value End Function Public Function Sum(ByRef source As Range) As Double Application.Volatile source.FormulaArray = "=SUM(" & source.address(, xlR1C1) & ")" Sum = source.Value End Function Public Function Count(ByRef source As Range) As Long Application.Volatile source.FormulaArray = "=COUNT(" & source.address(, xlR1C1) & ")" Count = source.Value End Function Q: Definition of $\psi(x)$ I got stuck at the step where $f(x) = \frac{1}{x}$ is differentiable and hence $f'(x)$ exists. $\sum_{n=0}^{\infty} h^n f(x-h) = hf'(x)$ for h small I'm not

The agent has changed the ban of a player. Consider this Okey's post with this: Quote: When I talk about banning, I mean a 'permanent' ban. When I say permanent, I mean until the players rejoin BWCL rankings. It doesn't matter if it's banned a week or a month. It matters how long it takes for them to get back into BWCL. That's the only way to police accounts. In that case, what about the existing members of the club who saw the banned person participate? Okey, I am not disputing his approach or approach to any rules. I am merely making sure I am not misinformed about the current state of it all. I won't bother debating the reasoning behind it, because as you said, he has clearly shown he knows it. Edit: For the less than 50% of people who seem to have no idea how BWCL ranking works, he is playing with the rank of the person he banned, not the player on that account. If your group is 99th, his players never came into the match history, and now are ranked 100th. That is why they are only appearing in the blacklist, and not going back into the rankings. Sorry, I'll go with the OP's post. I stand corrected. I don't know if that is the official stance of BWCL, but I'd bet on it. If that is the case, then BWCL is a blacklist more than anything else. If players were banned, it would be unwise to say that they can rejoin BWCL rankings. This provides them an opportunity to immediately dust off the rank of the player they want to banish them. I have seen it happen in other leagues. They temporarily ban you to avoid the possibility of you rejoining the rankings and steamrolling your way back up. I think it is reasonable to play along. We have a decent list of players who would take care of it. If the ban comes from the league, then the league is screwed. Their banning decision probably comes from a new player. That's a weak spot in my opinion. All my experiences in other leagues where a leader/owner/GM does a bad job of handling the blacklist. The league turns into an excuse for a bunch of GMs to band together and corrupt the league. I agree with the general concept. The problem is that if a banned player rejoins the ranking.
