The paneer production process

1

Milk Sourcing

We begin by sourcing the freshest, highest-quality milk from our own herd of cows, ensuring complete traceability and control over the entire supply chain.

2

Traditional Curdling

Using traditional methods, we carefully curdle the milk to separate the solids (paneer) from the liquid (whey), preserving the natural flavors and texture.

3

Gentle Pressing

The paneer curds are then gently pressed to remove any remaining whey, resulting in a dense, creamy texture that's perfect for a wide range of cooking applications.
