Urgent Medication Refills

If you're uncertain about a diagnosis or treatment plan, we offer expert second opinions to provide clarity and reassurance. Our professionals will review your medical history, current medications, and symptoms to offer a well-informed perspective. Get our second opinion mental health services in California, Idaho, and Washington.

Finding the right medication can be crucial for effective treatment. We provide thorough medication evaluations to identify the most suitable options for managing your mental health. Our team will consider your personal history, symptoms, and previous treatment responses to tailor a medication plan that works for you. Get our medical evaluation services in California, Idaho, and Washington.

We understand that running out of medication can be stressful. Daybreak Telepsych offers urgent medication refill services to ensure continuity of care. Please note that we do not prescribe controlled substances, and we encourage you to work closely with your primary care provider for these needs. Get urgent medication refills in Idaho, California, and Washington.

Important Information: For the safety and well-being of all our patients, Daybreak Telepsych does not prescribe controlled medications. We are committed to ethical and responsible care, focusing on non-controlled medication management and therapeutic support.

We will be providing mental health services in Idaho and California as well.
